Oral examination in Italian or German, as preferred.

During the final exam, students will have to show they have acquired a good knowledge of basic concepts and topics as well as the necessary descriptive and analytical skills to discuss in academically appropriate manners the topics presented during the course.

- Didattica integrativa

Preliminary language tests

To verify if the required level has been achieved, students have to take all assessments (for students who attend a minimum of 70%) or the unified preliminary language test. Speaking skills will be assessed only if students have passed all written tests: the conversation will deal with general subjects and texts from a reading-list which will be available at the beginning of the academic year.

Both oral and written language tests are preliminary to the exam.
