

EARLY MODERN HISTORY - B
Enrollment year	2017/2018
Academic year	2017/2018
Regulations	DM270
Academic discipline	M-STO/02 (MODERN HISTORY)
Department	DEPARTMENT OF HUMANITIES
Course	HUMANITIES
Curriculum	Lettere moderne
Year of study	1°
Period	(25/09/2017 - 10/01/2018)
ECTS	6
Lesson hours	36 lesson hours
Language	Italian
Activity type	ORAL TEST
Teacher	MAFFI DAVIDE (titolare) - 6 ECTS
Prerequisites	A basic general knowledge and and basic knowledge of early modern history
Learning outcomes	The course explores some of the key themes that characterize the modern age , with particular reference to the eighteenth century , periodized beyond traditional court partitions a quo and ad quem : the state building, social and economic dynamics , the relations between the different European countries, the international military relations and the formation of the european empires. The topic general history/local history is focused. The students begin to work with historical sources.
Course contents	Under the general themes listed above, the course will focus on the European case in the long eighteenth century between the end of the seventeenth century ( the "crisis of the European conscience " ) and the French Revolution. A seminar (12 hours) concerning the issue, in relation of course topics, will be held by prof. Alessandra Ferraresi, which will analyze the Italian case and who will provide historical sources and bibliography.

Teaching methods	Lectures and seminar
Reccomended or required readings	Reading list All the attending students (lessons and seminary) will have to study: Adriano Prosperi e Paolo Viola, Storia moderna e contemporanea, Einaudi, Torino, 2000, vol. II, pp. 185-386 (i capitoli VII-XI) Luciano Guerri, L'europa del Settecento. Permanenze e mutamenti, Torino, UTET, 1988, pp. 359-445, 449-499 e 527-571 Carlo Capra, Gli italiani prima dell'Italia. Un lungo Settecento, dalla fine della Controriforma a Napoleone, Roma, Carocci, 2014 (For the seminar of Prof. Ferraresi, pages will be indicated during the course) For the not participants, it's obligatory the lecture of one of this books: Walter Panciera, La Repubblica di Venezia nel Settecento, Roma, 2014. Roberto Bizzocchi, Ciccisbei. Morale privata e identità nazionale in Italia, Roma – Bari, 2008. Franco Venturi, Settecento riformatore, vol. I, Da Muratori a Beccaria (1730-1764), Torino, 1998.
Assessment methods	Oral examination
Further information	Oral examination
Sustainable development goals - Agenda 2030	$ibl legenda sviluppo sostenibile